Shrink wrap work shelter for hull repairs

Need a controlled environment for hull repairs but don't have a workshop?

A shrink wrap work shelter can be erected where your boat is laid up for the winter, be it at home or in a club or boat yard. A shrink wrap cover is not like traditional tarpaulins or builders plastic as it becomes tight as a drum skin and will not rattle, chafe or split.

*Shrink Wrap Pro*TM uses marine grade shrink wrap with 4 year UV inhibitors and anti-brittle agents which will last for years. Access is provided by adhesive doors which come in various sizes. Adhesive vents can also be attached to enable ventilation if required.

The advantages of a shrink wrap work shelter for hull repairs are:

- Save cost transporting the boat to and from a covered facility
- Controlled environment for drying and applying resins/epoxy
- Work is not controlled by the weather
- White shrink wrap reflects sun light keeping the work shelter cool in sunny weather
- Cheaper than covered storage, no need to remove the mast also
